So I am currently pregnant with my first little angel baby. We are due in late October 2023. To say I am excited is truly an understatement. Anywho! This is where you can find all the info you might need about my maternity leave and shooting schedule. Unfortunately, I will be on leave during my favorite time of year for family sessions. However, I have a few dates left before maternity leave starts and I will be offering mini sessions in early December.

All of the info is below! Please feel free to reach out with any questions.
